Randy,

It was a pleasure to speak with you yesterday. I had mentioned how happy we have been with the one million pound hydraulic test frame that Shore Western Mfg. built for us. As the leader in force and torque measurement transducers, it is vital for us to have equipment that provides reliable and accurate performance. Interface has had a long and successful relationship with your company and has appreciated the professional manner in which you have conducted business with us, as well as the technical expertise demonstrated throughout the design, engineering, and manufacturing process.

I will be talking to you soon about new applications where, I believe, you can provide additional equipment for Interface.

Regards,

Bob Katner
